

Fiery Completes Acquisition of Inèdit Software

FREMONT, CA. January 8, 2026 – Fiery, LLC, the print industry's leading innovator of digital front ends (DFEs) and workflow software, today announced that it has completed the acquisition of Spanish print technology company Inèdit Software.

Print providers will be able to continue to enjoy high-quality RIP solutions for digital print applications from Inèdit products like neoStampa, neoTextil, neoCatalog, and neoMatch. These complement Fiery's existing solutions for commercial, industrial, wide-format, direct-to-film (DTF), and direct-to-garment (DTG) printing, offering print providers a one-stop-shop for a broad range of printing applications – all with the freedom to use printers from the industry's widest selection of manufacturers.

In the future, print providers can look forward to even stronger solutions for digital textile printing, as Fiery intends to enrich Inèdit's product offerings with industry-leading expertise in color and imaging, job management, RIP performance, and device integration.
